

EOUS Phlegon Turnout wins prestigious “Editor’s Choice” award by The Horse Journal

The Horse Journal (September 2012) chose the EOUS Phlegon Heavyweight Turnout, made by Equisupplies LLC, as the recipient of the coveted “Editor’s Choice” award. The selection was among 18 other turnout blankets from various manufacturers randomly chosen to be in a field trial for fit and performance. Features including blanket cut, fabric, hardware, closures, leg straps and surcingles were considered during the testing process.

As stated by The Horse Journal, “Our top choice for a turnout blanket is the EOUS Phlegon. It’s mid-priced and offered a great fit with no shifting or rubbing and it wore well. The pretty herringbone pattern is just the icing on the cake.”

The Phlegon Heavyweight Turnout is made of a 900 Denier Oxford Polyester herringbone patterned fabric. The shoulder gusset and belly cut out offer complete freedom of movement for the shoulder and added warmth on those cold winter days. The rugged, waterproof and breathable Phlegon is an excellent choice for any horse owner’s peace of mind.

The EOUS Banbridge Lightweight Turnout was also among those tested. As commented in the same article “We were impressed with the Phlegon and Banbridge from Eous. The Banbridge, especially, has a special arched front design that replaces a traditional gusset design and allowed plenty of shoulder freedom. The darting over the hip was comfortable. We had no rubs. The materials are of good quality, and the sewing is well done.” It is featured as a “Wonderful blanket with top-notch craftsmanship and very low price”.
